And then the big night arrived - the ROF 15th Year Anniversary /Charity Dinner

Driving down on Yorba Linda Boulevard this Sunday morning is such a pleasure one can ask for. The hilly boulevard with the tree lines on my two sides is quite friendly. The Cherry blossom season was over and had left these trees standing with bare branches that appeared to lean to one another for friendship and support. Here and there, I found yellow leaves swept over by the wind-blow and were lying comfortably on some corners. I guess this is what fall is all about. At the end of the boulevard, Jo Ann - America's favorite fabric store with the sign "Closed" displayed at the window, was already inviting its customers to stop by. I remember just less than two months ago, I found such a pretty fabric for my "ao dai", selectively chosen for the ROF's 15th charity event. Of course, red was the color of my choice, and my Vietnamese dress turned out just as perfect as I would have expected. In fact, each and every member of the ROF also carefully chose the shade for each ao dai and collectively, when standing next to each other, these shades formed a bright and beautiful rainbow. A rainbow of hope - the hope for ROF to achieve another successful funds raising dinner.

ROF held its 15th charity dinner this year in late August when the temperature was still warm and when the excitement of summer days was still lingering in the air. The annual charity dinners have always been ROF's biggest event, but this year's charity night was one that represents the organization's greatest accomplishment after being involved for more than a decade with the philanthropy work.

As big as this event can be imagined, after months of anticipation and planning, all members of the ROF proudly put out an unforgettable charity night. Below is the English version of a report clipped from the Viet Bao magazine dated 8/27/2007.
